Gordon -
All I can say is that I feel honored to be the 1st person to sign your yearbook. If you are wondering what that is, it is a picture of the rubber-bond that you shot me with just about every other day in our 4 consecutive math classes we had in the last 4 years. Have fun this summer in your heart.
PS. - See ya next year in our 5th consecutive math class.

Gordon -

At a loss at what to write. Maybe just that you're a cool character and will succeed in anything you do. Hope our trial dive is fantastic. Live long and prosper. Take it easy.....

Introduction 1, Classes 18, Administration and Faculty 114, Creative Arts 145,

Gordon,
You are a real cool guy and it has been nice knowing you good luck next year and in SCUBA

*Laugh, little children,
While you still have time,*

*The big merry-go-round
Needs another dime.*

*Run, little children,
Through the night and day,
And pray that the sun
Won't soon fade away.*

*Laugh, little children,
If you can through your fears,
Even though you know
You will leave and shed tears.*

Run, little children

You were young, now you're old.

Where have you been?

It's time to come into the fold.

FACULTY

Principal

Satellite High has always been fortunate in receiving outstanding men as its chief administrator. Although in his first year at Satellite, Mr. Billy R. Davis has become deeply instilled with the proud traditions of the school. He is always willing to take time out from his many duties to lend a friendly ear to a student.

Mr. Billy R. Davis

Assistant Principals

Mr. Walter Dixon and Mr. James Parker assist both teachers and students as they help coordinate school activities. Mr. Dixon, assistant principal for curriculum, works primarily with the teachers, while Mr. Parker deals mainly with student activities and the needs of the student.

Mr. Walter Dixon

Mr. James Parker

Deans

The Deans have one of the toughest jobs at Satellite. It takes a lot of hard work, security, and above all, understanding to make a good Dean. Mr. Harold Mann and Mrs. Gloria DiFabio have a deep interest in all students—their problems and their opinions.

Mrs. DiFabio

Mr. Mann

Office Staff

The office personnel courteously meets the demands of the faculty administration and students always with a willing smile throughout their daily routine.

Mrs. Barton

Mrs. Blankenship

Mrs. Kelly

Guidance Counselors

The quality of ready attention and sympathy, along with practical advice on scheduling and college plans, makes Satellite's guidance department one of the most valuable services offered to students.

Clinic/Custodians

The clinic readily assists ill students and the custodians keep school grounds in an orderly condition.

Cafeteria Staff

The cafeteria staff cheerfully serves students tasty lunches daily

Research Center

Surrounded by a world of wisdom, students can exploit the research facilities, consult the reference section or simply enjoy the fiction shelves and magazines, all in silence.

Occupational Training Program

Mr. Pitt teaches students practical training today to use tomorrow

Mr. Pitt

English

Through the study of literature, one not only learns to appreciate writing, but also the various people and cultures involved. Accurate communication is the aim of the English courses.

Footprints in the Sand

She sat alone in the darkness, hiding from the storm
The wind blew hard across the beach, the air was heavy and warm.
When I saw her I knew I had known her,
Someplace long, long ago.
As I neared, she turned her head away, it appeared she didn't know.
Then I saw the silver glint, of metal in the night.
She shuddered as the needle pierced her skin, her face, a sickening white.
I walked to her past the lonely pier,
and looked into her eyes.
She looked at me from another world, she just didn't realize.

I was the one who started it, so very long ago
We got stoned together at a party, in my home.

Silently I watched as she turned,
and slowly walked away.
I saw the trail her footsteps left,
and began to die that day.
For they could lead to nowhere,
Yet I had shown the way.

The pier loomed high above, casting shadows on the beach Gulls floated softly in the light of a moon just barely out of reach.
The killer twice walked slowly,
With Mother Nature glowing in his hand.
In the morning ocean swiftly washed away their footprints from the sand.

Joe Cocchiarella

And now you're gone, as though you were never here, and my loneliness' shadow now appears.
i shall wait till you are yet gone,
and then cry over some silly song.
and turn i will, as my memories last,
to close the door of my jar of glass.

My loneliness is a one-time joke
 And my happiness is made of smoke
 Call me the jester or the stouge
 Only because my dreams are my reward
 Over at the window I sit Wondering why I just don't quit
 Over in the corner I gaze,
 Because my hopes are lost in a maze Wishing my torment could earn an 'R' be still Call me the jester, the stouge, or what you will . . .

kacey

Seems like everyone is too possessed in their own minds, They never care about me or the or this time
 My time is done and what does it show?
 I have so much to learn and so little I know My world is so small but yet
 it's all mine,
 My thoughts are so mellow and seem so entwined, Forever I all I see and always shall I laugh
 At the un-seeming people behind their fake masks.

THE END OF THE DAY

The sky was blacker than black
At once pearl and pearl
A million stars scattering their brilliance
On a flawless black velvet tapestry

The woods of mass of static sleazeballs Softly entreating us to stay Silently reminding we could not stray
From our appointment with the lake

We found what quietly walking
The fisherman busy working Surfily intent purely for fun
Thus averring We're else

The wind grows suddenly fiercer
Darted noisily in the water
The frosty December breeze
Flaying the water with the rapid soon to freeze

In each others arms we sat,
Warmly in our blanket wrapped Falsely longing for the return Of he who never was.

Eye ranging light into poses Laughing, singing, teasing Whispering snicker secrets Laying, toling, wanting

Sharing warm cutlery kisses
Soft gazes, deepest wishes Serenely dozing, I can't smile for Alone together, love forever

With white crown atop our heads,
We rose with the fresh morning light
To greet the radiant white sight
To commune with the newborn day.

I had a love and it was true
Until the day I knew we were through,
I loved him more than anything
Because tears of joy were what he'd bring.
I miss him so very, very much Especially that warm and gentle touch.
Some day I hope I'll find Another one who will understand.

BY CHANCE

As I walked one day along the shore
I happened, by chance, to meet you
And as I turned my head to see
I stared into your eyes so blue
And there I stood entranced by them, standing still, ghostly still Hoping by chance for a command Wishing to be your will Here as my senses more and more became my own
I looked at the beach around me
And discovered I was alone

I can only count disturbing the silence of the night as those of children playing in the corner
And the chirps of the birds singing

it fed in this water it swam in this water it had children near this water it did nothing to this water to make give me time to sing to the tunes of your precious birds, time to catch a glimpse of a robin just hatching from its egg.

time to witness a flower opening at dawn.

give me time to walk among endless cornfields and feel the fresh air soothe the interior of my bones.
i want so much to be among what you have created.

give me time to slash into your vast oceans, to swim in the coldest lake,
to watch tadpoles swim in a quiet pond.
time to catch a frog,
or climb a tree in search of a squirrel.

give me time to hear a grasshopper's music in the early morning, time to watch the rising of the sun or the setting of a rough day. time to wander through a forest, not knowing where it begins or ends.

give me time, father, to do the things that i would to do, now what everyone else expects of me, but time to feel the immense beauty you have given us all.

time to top everything and learn through experience what the world around me is really like.
give me time—oh, give me time, father, to be with you alone.

Exchange Students

The International Cultural Exchange located in Ann Arbor, Michigan . . . exchange students . . . new friendships

Gustavo San Roman comes from Montevideo, Uruguay, the smallest country in South America. He will be here for six months as an exchange student.

One of his goals while in America, is to become familiar with our way of life, our culture and customs. He hopes that, through himself, we can learn of his country. Of the educational system here, Gus feels that school is easy, and he admires the material aides used in teaching a subject.

Another exchange student is Maria Cevallos. She comes from Quito, Ecuador where she was born eighteen years ago. This is her first year of studying English. Later she would like to go to college to further her language studies.

Maria has found America to be interesting and exciting. She enjoys traveling; unlike in South America where out of country visits are rare.

From Oslo, Norway comes Ivar Johansen. Because of his interest in the Space Program, he applied to stay in Florida, where he will live for a year.

He has found the American way of life to be full of conveniences. The people are friendly and easy to get along with. Satellite High rates "pretty good" with Ivar, who plans to go to college in the U. S.

Heart Throb Hop

Love and kisses flew through the air... pretty girls and handsome guys... Valentine's Day.

For the first time in years, SHS had an informal Heart Throb Hop. Sponsored by the Choraliers, the dance was a huge success. The festive time was highlighted by the crowning of Queen Jenni Marter and King Kevin Van Schaack.

The Spurrlows

Gotta' get out of class... Oh wow! there's an assembly today... sponsored by the National Honor Society... the contemporary rock group the Spurrlows... great music... rock 'n roll... soul.

The Spurrlows played for two captive assembly audiences. The smooth, mellow voice of Randy Moore singing "Make it With You" by Bread, the strong brass sound of "American Band" by Grand Funk Railroad, and the nostalgic delight of such hits as "Kansas City," and "Blue Suede Shoes" echoed through the halls.

An added feature of the assembly was the dance contest. The winning form of Coach Carney, and later Mr. Fen, met the approval of students and faculty, while the others watched in disbelief.

homecoming '73

Excitement is in the air as the parade begins to take form. Candidates and escorts glide toward stadium in shining boats. Imaginative floats. Marching Scorpion Band and Scorpionettes add color and enthusiasm. As game begins Scorp fans hope for victory. Excitement builds as half time festivities begin. Hearts pounding as winners announced. Melanie Clement, Sophomore Princess. Shauna Williams, Junior Princess. Robin Maidhof, Senior Princess. 1973 Homecoming Queen, Cindy Doty. Colorful half time display ends as game continues. Spirit dampened as Scorpions lose a tight defensive contest to Cocoa Beach, 6-0. Homecoming climaxed by the dance on Saturday night.

Senior candidates and escorts:
Kim Seib; Jamie Holmes;
Robin Maidhof; Brian
Woodward; Phyllis Pekora; Mr.

Scarlettes

A proud new addition to the Marching Scorps this year are the Scarlettes. The four girls march on the field at half-time with the band carrying their scarlet and white flags. Their sharp precise drills add to the glamour and entertainment of a half time show.

Symphonic Band

From its gay marches to its classical overtures, the Symphonic Band has always given entertaining performances. Besides the regularly scheduled performances at the school, it also performs at several contests during the year where they always bring back high honors.

Members: Janis Atkinson, Jim Beckett, Rick Bartwistle, Linda Brooks, Lynn Broussard, Kim Cardinale, Kathy Chandler, David Chapman, Greg Clanton, Rex Cobb, Rhys Cobb, Barb Cote, Tim Curran, John Davis, Mike Day, Mike DeMarco, Scott Ellis, Gloria Favor, Debi Foss, Debbie Gardner, Eileen Gardner, Carol Hendrix, Carola Hoffman-Heyden, John Holligan, Bob Holt, Michelle Johnson, Cheryl Kennedy, Fran Kennedy, Debbie Kintigh, Nadine Kintigh, Rick Komm, Gayle Lacey, Allard Lewis, Stan Lindsay, Wayne Litherlan, David Lugnbuhl, Andrea Moore, Lin Morgan, Bennie Odom, Mark Olinger, Larry Pike, Mark Reece, Sheryl Rewis, Val Rike, Monica Roth, Steve Scott, Donna Sheriff, Ann Sillers, Sheila Skinner, Tracy Smith, Lewis Symmes, Doug Wadeson, Doug Walden, Steve Webb, Brett Webster, Daryl Webster, Gary Withers, Connie Witmer.

Stage Band

With its variety of jazz and pop selections, the Stage Band adds a nice variation to the music department. The Stage Band plays selections that range from the Swing Era to today's Modern Pop and Soul Music which brings enjoyment to listeners of all ages.

Marching Scorpion Band

Known for its entertaining half-time shows of precision marching and fancy footwork, the Marching Scorps are one of the most spirited organizations at Satellite. Under the direction of Mr. Patrizi (Pappa Wappa, affectionately) and John Davis, drum major, the band's hard work was justly rewarded this year when it received a straight superior rating at the Annual District Marching Contest.

This year the TEL-STAR staff is indeed fortunate to have with them the East Central District No. 3 Representative to the Florida Scholastic Press Association, Lori Camberg. She represents ten counties on the east coast at the Executive Board meetings, and also helps in planning the Fall Workshop and State Convention.

An experienced and talented man, Mr. Schaap was appointed Vice President at the Fall Executive Board meeting that was held in Daytona Beach early in the school year. His old position of District Advisor will be filled at a later date. Congratulations, Mr. Schaap!

SCORPIO

The work on the Satellite High School annual, SCORPIO, is done by an organized annual staff. Much work goes into Satellite's yearbook and much talent is expended. Those on the annual staff work many nights... nights of groans, grins, sighs, songs, parties, coffee and laughter through all of the work. However, there comes the satisfaction of knowing the job has been done well.

This year the SCORPIO staff consists of many Seniors who have had three or more years of journalism experience. Among them is Suzi Gruneh, who is the State Secretary for Florida Scholastic Press Association. Her duties include keeping the minutes for all state meetings, and working with the Executive Secretary regarding other business.

SPORTS

1973:

A YEAR OF HOPES

AND SORROWS...

Coach Wayne Shelton, after building a football dynasty at Interlachen High School, came to the Space Coast in hopes of continuing his winning ways.

Even before accepting the head coach position for the Scorp gridders, Coach Shelton knew that the road ahead would be a tough one to pave.

The young, inexperienced Scorp realized they had their work cut out for them, playing one of the toughest schedules in the state. Although the work and desire to win was there, the breaks never seemed to fall their way.

Their record may not show it, but throughout the season the Scorpions gained the experience and knowledge a winning team needs to excel.

J. V. Football

The 1974 J. V. Football team, under the stern leadership of head coach Pat O'Brian, added the only winning note to an otherwise losing football season. The strong line of sophomores accumulated the best J. V. Football record to come along in the past few years.

1974:

A Season of Disappointment

The 1974 Scorpionagers started off the year with two big upsets over Cocoa Beach and Merritt Island. From that point on, though, the season was mostly a draw-pool of defeat.

Injuries and poor conditioning hurt the Scorpions from the beginning, but there was one thing even better on this year's team that was different in past years: they gave their effort to give a winning season. Not even this year would the Scorpions fail to give a full effort.

Although they ended up with a losing record, the Scorpions have at least a point to be proud of. Next season, this spirit plus an outstanding crop of junior varsity players will make Satellite a winner.

Baseball

The 1974 Satellite Scorpion baseball team used a tremendous combination of power, speed and pitching to become the most outstanding baseball team the Space Coast has seen in years. The pitching was supplied mostly by southpaw hurler Eric Hiller as he led the Space Coast pitchers in every category imaginable. Mike Grammer teamed with Hiller to give Satellite the best 1-2 punch in the county.

Satellite was loaded with talent but they could not have won the CCC Championship if it had not been for the wit and wisdom of their outstanding coach, Les Hall.

Track

1974 proved to be a landmark to remember for the Satellite Track Team, as they came up with their best season ever.

This complete turnaround could not have been possible if it weren't for the patience and hard work of coaches Ken Pitt and Joe Horschel.

Success has finally come to the Satellite trackmen, and with many outstanding returning sophomores and juniors success should stay here at Satellite for quite a few years.

*Laugh, little children,
While you still have time.
The big merry-go-round
Needs another dime.*

*Run, little children,
Through the night and day,
And pray that the sun
Won't soon fade away.*

*Laugh, little children,
If you can through your fears,
Even though you know
You will leave and shed tears.*

*Run, little children,
You were young, now you're old,
Where have you been?
It's time to come in to the fold.*

I can't believe that it is really over: the thousands of hours of hard work, the countless problems that plagued the staff, the untimely loss of our friends, the good times we shared. Now, only one week before we go to press for the final deadline, they all seem to have happened so long ago. That is the purpose of a yearbook: to capture the present in pictures, to save for the future, to be able to relive the past. My hope for SCORPIO 74 is that it will somehow help you to enjoy this year in memories.

Few people realize that ours is a professional yearbook produced by a rather less than professional staff. If only those twenty odd people, my staff, could know the admiration I have for them. They accepted the responsibility of assembling a literary work, and met the challenge well.

One man who kept all of us together when times were rough, tried so hard to keep the room neat and organized, and who had all of us laughing especially when I felt like crying, is Mr. Gary Mauck, our advisor. He is a most valuable person and a wonderful friend.

As the third year of my somewhat crazy dedication to SCORPIO comes abruptly to an end, I have to say, "It feels kinda good to be a has-been. And it only seems fair that I have
